DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 – 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Buch et al., U.S. Patent No. 6,463,468.

As per claim 1, Buch teaches a computer including an application window containing first information and having an associated utility bar and/or menu bar, an information window integrated into the utility bar and/or menu bar (see Buch, figure 4, item 406) and displaying second information independently of the first information displayed in the application window (see Buch, figure 4, item 404, column 3, lines 3 - 12 and column 7, lines 1 - 4).

Art Unit: 2174

As per claim 2, which is dependent on claim 1, Buch teaches the method of claim 1 (see rejection above). Buch further teaches the computer of claim 1 wherein the application window is for navigating a computer network (see Buch, column 6, lines 56 - 61) and wherein the information window displays information independently of a node on the computer network currently being visited by the computer program (see Buch, column 3, lines 3 - 12).

As per claim 3, which is dependent on claim 2, Buch teaches the method of claim 2 (see rejection above). Buch further teaches the computer of claim 2 wherein information displayed in the information window is received via a computer network (see Buch, column 2, line 67 – column 3, line 3).

As per claim 4, which is dependent on claim 3, Buch teaches the method of claim 3 (see rejection above). Buch further teaches the computer of claim 3 wherein the information displayed in the information window includes a hot link to a node on the computer network.

Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Moraes, U.S. Patent No. 6,014,502.

Application/Control Number: 10/018,299 Page 4

Art Unit: 2174

As per claim 5, Moraes teaches a method for sending information on a computer network including the steps of:

- a) compiling personal profiles for each of a plurality of subscribers (see Moraes, column 5, lines 3 12);
- b) receiving a plurality of notices via the computer network, each notice including associated interest criteria (see Moraes, column 20, lines 37 56);
- c) comparing each interest criteria with each personal profile (see Moraes, column 20, lines 3-12); and
- d) selectively sending the plurality of notices via the computer network to the plurality of subscribers based upon said step c) (see Moraes, column 5, lines 18 23).

As per claim 6, which is dependent on claim 5, Moraes teaches the method of claim 5 (see rejection above). Moraes further teaches the method of claim 5 further including the step of displaying at least one of the notices in an information window integrated into a utility bar and/or menu bar of a computer application and displaying second information in an associated application window independently of the displayed notice (see Moraes, figure 8, items 800 and 824, column 16, lines 65 - 67 and column 19, lines 50 - 53).
